

e suffer a double blow

with Allstate, heads to another client's home Monday in Apalachicola after assessing the Shadow
-old Louis Van Vleet.

MARK WALLHEISER / Democrat

Apalachicola tornado victims didn't have insurance

LA — d on his
y and
ive oak mashed

unk is iameter
a tooth-
ce of a palachy-
y. Its cover-
side of
of the

MARK WALLHEISER / Democrat

Harold Byrd heads back across 11th Street for another load of debris while cleaning his yard Monday.

affected residents, 71-year-old York is working on a plan to repair his home, which he spent $20,000 remodeling. But removal of the huge tree

INSIDE

■ Seafood festival is still
on. 2A

ON THE WEB

■ Go to Tallahassee.com
to see photo galleries from Apalachicola. Send your photos to readerphotos @tallahassee.com.

will take longer than desired because he doesn't have homeowner's insurance.

Please see STORM, 2A

Human relations

Mayor's summit continues

By Julian Pecquet

DEMOCRAT STAFF WRITER

Local residents packed
the Leon High School auditorium Monday
night, to hear poetic words of peace penned 800 years ago by a Muslim man.

The presentation of
mystic scholar Rumi's
"teachings
on global peace and harmony"
by scholar
Majid Naini was a highlight of the 6th
annual mayor's

Naini

initiative on race, culture and human relations.

Put together by the city's Department of Equity and Workforce Development, the two-
day event continues
today with workshops
and presentations on environmental justice,
law enforcement challenges and many other topics. The workshops will be preceded by a keynote presentation by women's studies scholar Peggy McIntosh, who will be addressing "white
privilege."

McIntosh also spoke
Monday evening at Florida A&M University's Lee Hall auditorium,
capping a day of events that included a keynote presentation by scholar and consultant Samuel Betances, titled "better together, doing together:
the benefits and values of diversity."

For tickets to today's events, call 891-8290.
The cost is $40.

- To read more about Nai-ni's rendition of Rumi's poetry, go to Page 1B.

Sign up for free election-night text updates

a y
ted
ocal
developments.
The free service is one of several new ways to keep in Tallahassee.com by going to tallahassee.com/mobile.

Need a shorter address?

through an RSS reader or other software. A popular Web site that uses RSS

